About This Game

Chinomikon is an adventure-learning game where our Hero wants to earn some money by teaching English, but, due to unexpected set of events, he starts fighting with fearsome monsters for Chinomikon pages. Which is, bytheway, a book of great value.

In order to survive, our Hero must complete a set of challenges and acquire 34 Chinomikon pages.

GAMEPLAY

RPG maker battle system, but with a slightly different approach.

Algorithm of learning process:

1. You are searching certain location for items - words that connected to this location. Any item has pinyin (romazition) and tranlation.
2. After searching all of the possible items, you are gaining an access to battle zone's portal of this location.
3. During fight, you have to use right item on an any giving monster. All Monsters, on their part, have chinese characters atop them.
4. Monsters have a chance to drop key item, which you need in order to continue story and learning process.

So, during multiple fights you could remember chinese characters and their translation.

I am actually teaching English in China just like the character in the game, therefore, this game was quite appealing to me. The entire game can be completed in 1 hour and I really hope more games like this will be made.

The words are useful for someone at an HSK 1 level (The 34 vocabulary words are related to greetings, living space, office, shop, etc.). The correct "pinyin" is needed in order to defeat the Chinese character monster. I think this game could be improved if a Chinese person spoke the words every time you attack the monsters. It would be amazing if someone could play this game and at least mimic the correct pronunciation of a few Chinese words.

For $0.99, it was well worth it.
